It seems to be the tactics of our opponents to meet their arguments against the important and difficult questions which are to be decided thus Missouri was voted out of the Union under the act of the 6th of March, 1820, now known as the Missouri Compromise. The senator from Ohio [Mr. Chase] led gallantly in the debate on the 6th of March 1820 was a solemn compact, and the north agreed to it. The two senators from Ohio [Mr. Chase and Mr. Wade] were in agreement with the report and voted for it. They have all assumed this position.

Mr. Douglass's Great Speech.

The speech of Mr. Douglass on the Nebraska Bill occupies a large share of our columns this week, and will for two or three weeks to come. We hope it may be attentively read, and the papers containing it laid by for future reference.

It is a masterly speech, covering the whole ground, and is admitted by all to be one of the greatest efforts ever made in the Senate. The speech is characterized from beginning to end by a compact and logical strain of argument, supported by a chain of historical facts in relation to the Missouri Compromise which are entirely incontrovertible, and showing the groundlessness of the arguments of the opponents of the bill, that treacherous law prohibiting slavery in the territory north of 36° 30' is a violation of national faith.

As this question is exciting considerable interest, and many persons have been misled by the clamors of the abolitionists and opponents of the bill, and led to look upon it as something monstrous, we hope all our readers will carefully read the speech; make themselves acquainted with the true features of the case; and occasionally refer to it, so as to keep themselves posted, and refresh their memories.

There is, however, one objectionable feature to the Nebraska Bill, as it passed the Senate—the section depriving foreign settlers of the right of suffrage. For this Mr. Douglass was not responsible. The bill, as he originally reported it, expressly recognized this right. The section disfranchising the naturalized settlers was an amendment introduced by Mr. Clayton, whig, and adopted by northern whigs and southern votes, against the strenuous opposition of Mr. Douglass, Mr. Pettit, and other democratic members of his party, and in the other by their friends.

In view of the fact that they have unfeignedly undertaken to abrogate the Missouri Compromise, and to make no such legal effect in whatever place it has been passed. When first introduced, they denounced it as a provision to abrogate the Missouri Compromise. When amended, they repeated the same denunciation, and on each successive amendment, they have object to the passage of the bill for the sake of that, proving conclusively that they have not the least faith in the veracity of their own statement, in respect to the rotations and changes in the bill.

They seem very unwilling to meet the real issue. They do not like to discuss the principle. There seems to be something which strikes them with terror when you invite their attention to that great fundamental principle of popular sovereignty. Hence you find that all the immortals they have present are against repealing the Missouri Compromise, and in favor of the sanctity of compacts—in favor of preserving plighted faith. The senator from Ohio is anxious to dictate his speech in such a way as "Maintain Plighted Faith." The object is to keep the attention of the people as far as possible from this principle of self-government and constitutional rights.

Well sir, what is this Missouri Compromise of which we hear so much of late? It has been said of it, that it is not necessary to occupy the time of the Senate in reading it again. It was an act of Congress, passed on the 6th of May 1820, to authorize the people of Missouri to form a constitution and a State government, preparatory to the admission of such State into the Union. The first section provided that Missouri should be received into the Union on an equal footing with the original States in all respects whatsoever. The last and eighth section provided that slavery should be forever prohibited in all the territory which had been acquired from France north of 36° 30', and not included within the limits of the State of Missouri. There was nothing in the terms of the law that purports to be a compact, that indicates that it was anything more than a simple act of legislation. To prove that it was not, there is no other evidence, and prove that there was such an understanding as to create a moral obligation in the nature of a compact. Have they shown it?

I have it, and but one item of evidence produced during this whole debate, and that was a short paragraph from Niels' Key star, published a few days after the passage of the act. B. gentlemen aver that it was a solemn compact, which could not be violated or abrogated without dishonor. According to their understanding, the contract was that, in consideration of the admission of Missouri into the Union, on an equal footing with the original States in all respects whatsoever, slavery should be prohibited forever in the Territories north of 36° 30'. Now, who were the parties to this alleged compact? They tell us that it was a stipulation between the north and the south. Sir, I know of no such parties under the Constitution. I am unwilling that there shall be any such parties known in our legislature. If there is such a geographical line, it ought to determine for those who live there, no other parties than those living for it. The whole of the work let, embracing every thing but the crosses and rails, is to be completed by the 1st of May, 1855. About 120 miles of this work are now under contract: the balance, 80 miles, from Munie's to Vernon, is all extremely light work, and will be put under contract in season to be completed as early as the work now let. Strong hopes are entertained that the work from Fort Wayne to Munie's will be fully redone themselves, and gave such a concert as none but "The Bakers" can give.

Book Binding.—C. L. Hill has just returned from the east. He informs us that he has purchased a stock of Bookbinder's Tools, Ruling Kit, &c., engaged first-rate workmen, and is prepared to execute every description of Book Binding, Blank Work, &c., in a style equal to the best eastern establishments.

From our Washington Correspondent.

A WESTERN WOMAN IN WASHINGTON.—A correspondent from the city must write short dispatches, or he will get behind the times. Interesting events succeed each other so rapidly, that if an account of them is not recorded the same day, from the multitude of events which succeed them, they seem to get out of date. In this dilemma has your correspondent frequently found himself since her arrival in this city.

During the freshness of the inspiration attendant upon the visit, have I wished to write a whole letter to each one of the principal objects of interest to a stranger in this city. One upon the many curiosities to be seen in the Patent Office, another to the Smithsonian Institute, the Observatory, Washington's Monument, and especially the great occasion of the last President's levee; but there seems to be so many ways of consuming time here, in Washington, I am obliged to give up, in my future numbers, the records of memory, for the vivid impressions of to-day.

The great topic of interest, this week, has been the appearance in Washington of one hundred and fifty ministers, to install the pastor of the Congregationalist Church. Some of the most distinguished men, both from the East and the West, were among them; but Prof. S. W. Bush, the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and Henry Ward Beecher were the lions of the day; they seemed to be the men above all others whom the people wished to see and hear.—Saturday evening, according to invitation, the ministers assembled at the White House.

There was no formality in the visit. The President received Prot. Stowe on his first entrance, making at the same time some happy allusion to Uncle Tom's Cabin. Mrs. Pierce did not see the company, but requested her pastor to introduce her to her private parlor, Henry Ward Beecher. This is the White House as in the city, where the distinguished men, Sabbath evenings, preached to a crowded house, and the Turks were so bold cut up that they had to retire to their apartments.

The five articles of the tri-partite treaty are: 1st. England and France engage to support Turkey, by force of arms, until a peace is concluded, which shall secure the independence and integrity of the Sultan's dominions. 2d. The Porte shall not conclude peace without consent of the allies. 3d. The allies shall evacuate the Turkish territories after the war. 4th. The Russians will be armed mostly with their revolvers, and will also be the officers in the army. 5th. Turkey guarantees to all subjects of the Porte, without distinction of creed, perfect equality in law.

Arrival of the Arctic.

Richardson Brothers & Co.'s circular of April 3d, says—Since Friday, the upward tendency in London being so fully responded to throughout the Kingdom. The demand has been large both for consumption and export. Wheat and Flour may be written fully at 23d per lb. Oatmeal per bbl dearer on Flora since our last. Oatmeal has also attracted attention, and some quantity has changed hands at 32d per lb. in a short space of time.

We propose to note some of these improvements.

and are being used as tools to get the trash out of the West. They must however, by this time, be aware of the real character of the fraud, and they owe it to themselves and the community to suppress its further circulation.

Allen County Bank.—A new bank under this name is to be commenced here immediately with a capital of $500,000 furnished by Messrs. Turner and Wheeler of New York, and Brice and Dill, of Newark, Ohio. It is rumored that R. D. Turner well known to many of our citizens, is to be the Cashier, and that it may probably be intended to give currency to the notes of the Metropolitan and other similar institutions.

The last rumor we do not credit. The proprietors are said to be wealthy and responsible men, and not such as would be likely to engage in such a transaction. We repeat, we do not believe the report—it is not, or at least ought not to be true.

Our Senators and Representatives whose names are to be mentioned here immediately, with the exception of the Missouri Compromise, are the two senators from Ohio [Mr. Chase] and Mr. Wade], and the two from Connecticut [Mr. Smith] followed by the senator from Massachusetts [Mr. Sumner], the senator from Connecticut [Mr. Smith], the senator from New York [Mr. Seward], and perhaps others, have all assumed this position.

hands with him after the sermon, and expressed their good will.

The Clergy sitting next me in the church, and to the west of the pulpit, were affected by carrying out the principle with the under the act of the 6th of March, 1820, now so well known as the Missouri Compromise, that is, that what becomes of our slight compact if the north, and they owe it to themselves and the community to suppress its further circulation.

We quote, advanced from dates of Friday, a conversation respecting the opening of the service, remarked the impolicy of the introduction of this exciting question into Congress; saying that even Douglass regretted it; that he had no anticipation of its making the excitement it had made; that he introduced it in anticipation that it would pass both Houses before the country could get excited on the question, &c.; all of which I give you as Washington gossip. Another item is that whereas two weeks ago Douglass announced twenty-five majority in the House, he has now but ten majority. A gentleman who ought to know, says there is a decided majority in favor of giving it the go-by; hence, the word is that it will be indefinitely postponed in the House, or so amended as to be rejected by the Senate, and thus fall between the two Houses.

Our Senators and Representatives whose names are to be mentioned here immediately, with the exception of the Missouri Compromise, are the two senators from Ohio [Mr. Chase] and Mr. Wade], and the two from Connecticut [Mr. Smith] followed by the senator from Massachusetts [Mr. Sumner], the senator from Connecticut [Mr. Smith], the senator from New York [Mr. Seward], and perhaps others, have all assumed this position.

State University at Bloomington destroyed by Fire.—The State University at Bloomington was entirely destroyed by fire on Sunday morning the 9th inst. The valuable library, and every thing contained in the building was lost.

The old college building, boarding-rooms, &c., fortunately escaped destruction, and will serve to accommodate the students until the college can be rebuilt.

It is a mystery how the fire originated, as there had been no fire or light in the building, since the preceding Wednesday. The loss is estimated at $15,000.

John Brown.—They have three John Browns—John Brown, tanner, John Brown, tailor, and John Brown, ship carpenter—candidates for Treasurer of New Albany. The leaders think John Smith must look out or he will be thrown into shade by John Brown.

The notorious TRUMAN SMITH, U. S. Senator from Connecticut, has resigned his seat in the Senate—the resignation to take place on the 24th of May next. The necessity of attending to his private business is given as the reason.

On the 14th, the Niagara sailed from Liverpool with the 88th regiment for the east.

The Golden Age reached Australia in 61 days including 14 days detention at St. Vincents and the Cape.

Fifteen packed ships are fitting up at Liverpool to convey troops to the east.

On April 1st, the House of Parliament went to session in Buckingham Palace, and presented to the Queen an address in reply to her speech announcing the state of war with Russia.

The Turks have been repulsed from every part of the left bank of the Danube except Kaliakof. The allied fleets entered Beyoz Bay on the 25th.

The Greek Minister has received his passports, and all foreign Greeks have been sent from Turkey.

ATHENS, March 31.—Gen. Canrobert has arrived with two French steamer.

Blockade of Russian Pacific Ports.—The British Government have notified the United States both the Secretary of Interior and the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, respecting the Indian races. This I judge both from their official reports and from their conversation.

April 13th, 1854.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Arrival of the America.

Was Declared—Advance in Breadstuffs.

HALIFAX, April 14.

The American arrived this morning with Liverpool loads to 1st. Market for English wheat, &c., on advance—Dunmton & Co., quote western canals 38s a 38d; Phil. and Ohio 38s 6d a 36s. Wheat advanced as much as 16d in some cases—average advance 1s. Indian Corn quoted above prices current of the Europa, on 27th.

Queen of England's Proclamation.—The following proclamation by the Queen followed the official declaration of War and is of great interest.

Her Majesty, the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, having been compelled to take action in support of an ally, is desirous of rendering the war as little onerous as possible by remitting attention, good-will, and sympathy to the neutrals.

If these shavers are at all responsible, suit for damages ought to be at once instituted against them; and if not, they ought to be indicted for perjury.

In consequence of this, the Queen sent a message to both houses of Parliament, announcing the failure of all negotiations with Russia, and the consequent necessity of adopting other measures to force a compliance. The message concluded with the declaration that the Queen relied on the bravery of the army and navy in the emergency.

The message was to be taken in consideration on the 31st ult., and a reply of both houses will be soon made.

For Wayne, Clinton & Putte Valley Railroad.—We rejoice to announce that the prospect of a grant of lands for this road is brightening. The opposition made by rival roads in Iowa has been overcome, and the House committee on public lands are prepared to report a bill making a donation to this road of one half of all vacant land laying within six miles of the line. The amount will probably exceed one million acres.

This bill will be one of the first reported to the House, and the most sanguine anticipation is entertained.

It is contemplated to commence active operations on the road immediately, and push the work forward to completion as rapidly as possible.

Fort Wayne & Southern Railroad.

At the recent meeting of the directors, the grubbing, grading, masonry, &c., of 52 miles of the work, extending from the crossing of the Ohio & Mississippi Railroad at North Vernon, Jennings Co., to Jeffersonville, was let, in sections, to highly responsible and capable contractors.

The competition among bidders was great, and the work is let upon favorable terms to the contractors, the aggregate amount of the contracts being $15,000 less than the engineer's estimates.

The whole of the work let, embracing every thing but the crosses and rails, is to be completed by the 1st of May, 1855.
